Information in this webinar has been adapted from the Managing Successful Projects with PRINCE2 Manual, AXELOS

Introduction

- Establishes a project's structure of accountability and responsibilities

- Effective direction, management and control is required by every project

- Projects need to have an established and effective team structure and approach for communication

- There must be an organisation structure that engages our 3 principal project interests

Let's define...

Stakeholder

Any person or group that can be affected by a project or have an effect on a project.

Three Project Interests

Three primary categories of stakeholders; these must be represented in the Project Board.

Business Interests

Should be the executive role on the Project Board to represent business interests.

User Interests

Should be the Senior User role on the Project Board to represent user interests.

Supplier Interests

Should be the Senior Supplier role on the Project Board to represent supplier interests.
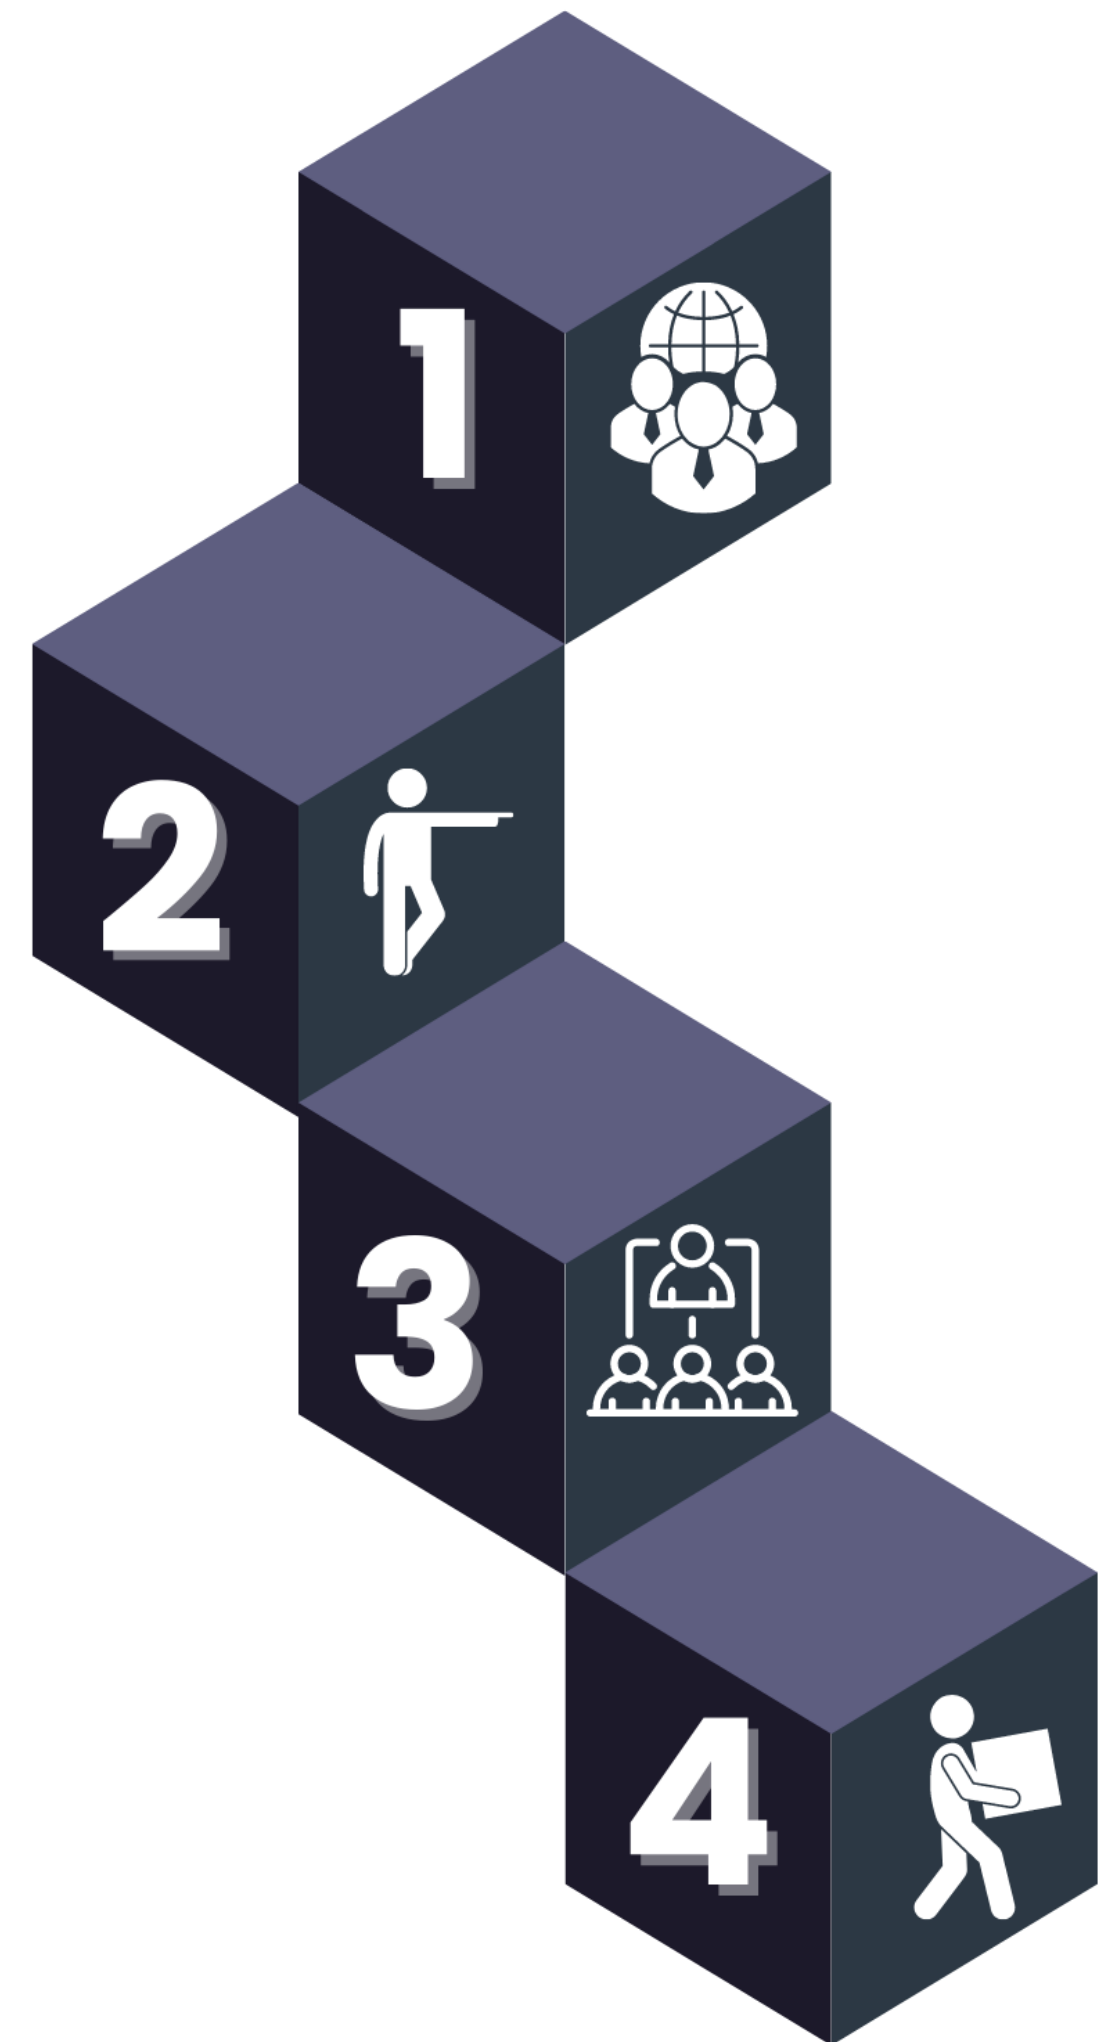

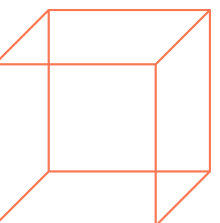

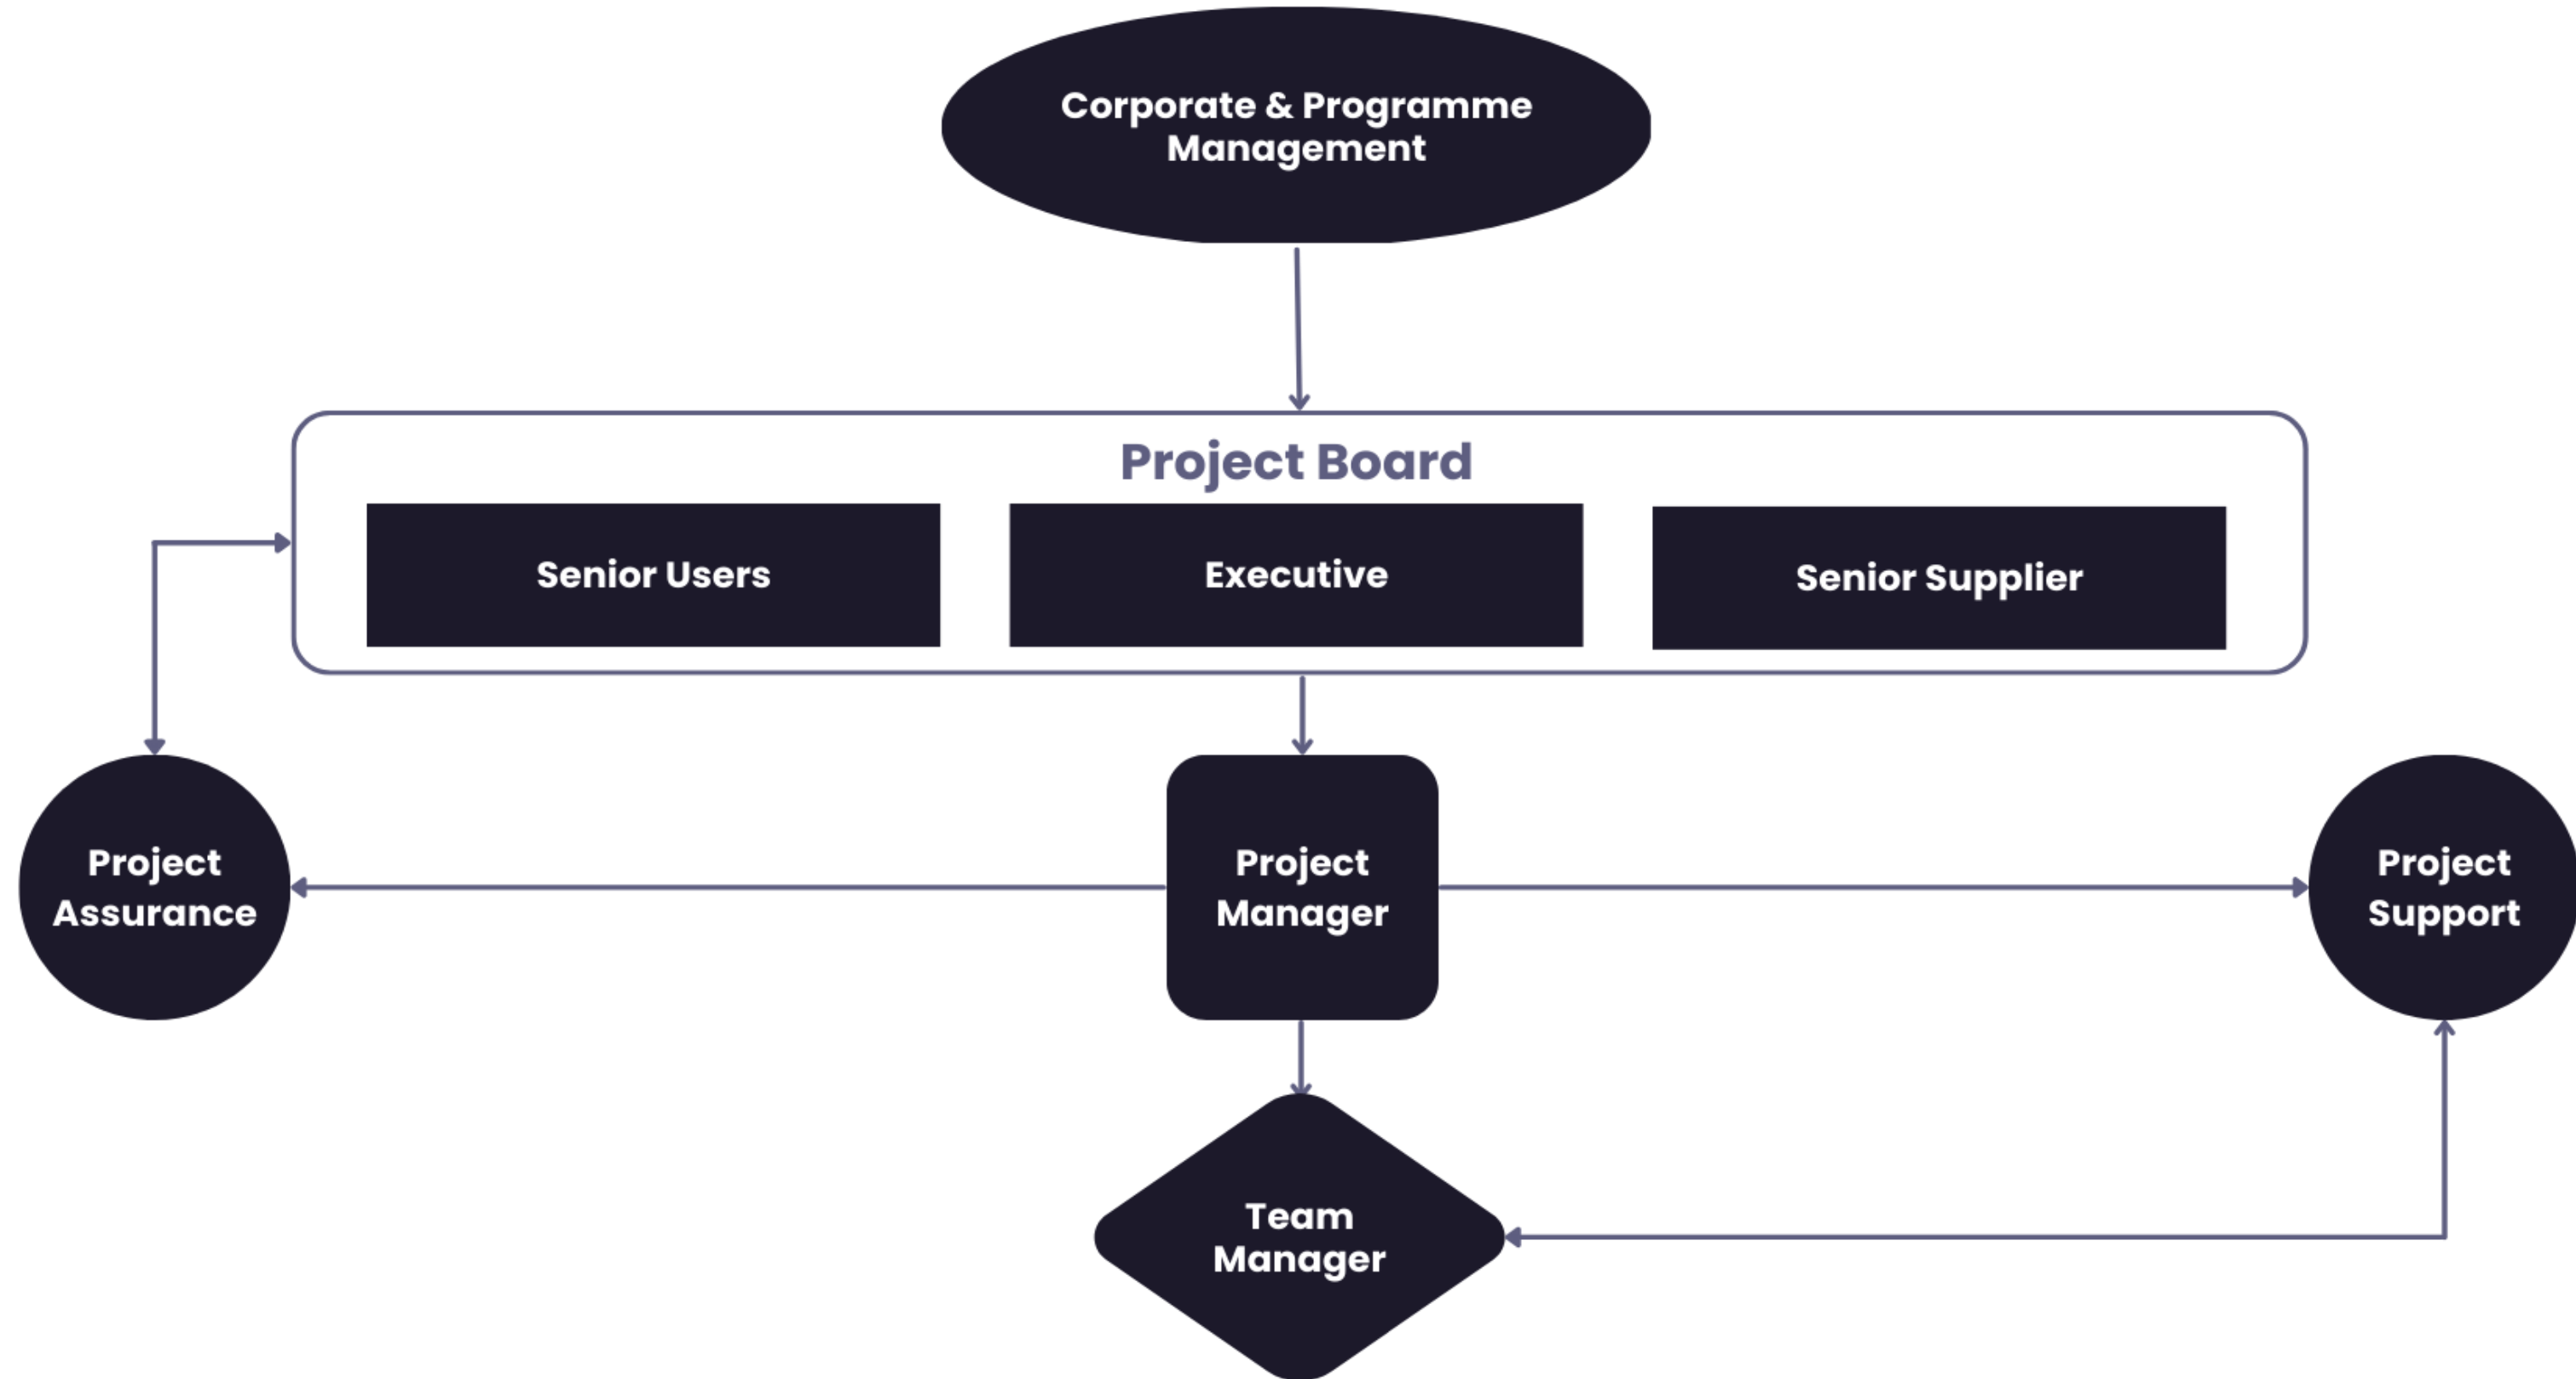

Customer/Supplier Environment

Can incorporate the user and the business interests on some projects.

Levels of a project organisation

1. Corporate or Programme Management Level
   C-Level Executives & Programme Managers

2. Direction Level
   Project Board

3. Management Level
   Project Manager

4. Delivery Level
   Team Manager

Project team structure

Stakeholder Engagement
